BATTLED IN A RAGING STORM.

Russians Made a Determined Attack on the Japanese Position, but were Repulsed with Heavy Losses.

Gen. Oku's head quarters, Jan. 30th.—General engagement opened along the whole line on Friday with a heavier artillery fire than in any previous battle. More guns being engaged than ever before in history. Russia divisions numbering 65,000 men advanced by night from the North West in an attempt to turn the Japanese left flank. The troops charged at day break and carried everything before them, but the Japanese supporters coming up they were driven back across the Hun River with heavy loss, including 500 officers and men captured. Both sides suffered from the intense cold, the Russian assault being made under cover of a raging snow storm.

Russia Still in Turmoil.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 30th.—Stories of blood and terror continue to come from all parts of the empire. A dynamite bomb was hurled into the barracks at Czenstoch, Poland, killing and wounding many soldiers. Prince Gueilly, chief of police at Batouin has been shot dead by strikers and the public buildings burned. In Moscow the authorities have gained the upper hand but armed conflicts are of hourly occurrence. The whole nation turns to the Czar to lead, but he appears entirely overcome by the shock of recent events.

Sergius Is Angry.

London, Jan. 30th.—The drunken Russian Hussars rode down British Vice Consul Mucukain in Warsaw to-day, slashing him over the head with sabres. He was carried to the hospital unconscious and lies in a critical condition. Only the agility of Consul-general Murray saved him from a like fate. British Ambassador Sir Charles Hardinge has lodged a vigorous worded protest at the maltreatment of the British Representative coupled with a demand for a strict inquiry.

Grand Duke Sergius publicly stated that England was fanning the flame of insurrection, providing for strikers, and assisting Japan by tying up Russian preparations to continue the war.

A BOUQUET FOR EDMONTON.

There is no Peace River country at the present time, and until there it would be wise to count upon it as a factor in determining the capital of 'the new provinces.'

This gratuitous fling at the Peace River country is another instance of the wish being father to the thought. It is in sweet accord with the policy pursued by some papers in the south for many months past, the policy of 'knocking' this famous district in season and out.

The fact that many settlers have gone into the Peace River country and that ~~was~~ ^{is} a fact all who have gone have stayed prospered and seem well off is sufficient evidence of the development which awaits the district when means of transportation are provided for its products and may quite properly be considered and argument in favor of the inclusion of that region in any province to be erected to the south of it. It may be further pointed out that the province of Ontario has for years practically lived on the resources of New Ontario, that Manitoba is now demanding more unoccupied land and that if the provinces which may be formed in the West are to have resources commensurate to their responsibilities these can only be secured by including within their boundaries large portions of the undeveloped but resourceful territory to the north.

Calgary is the railway centre and will continue to be the railway centre of the west. Edmonton has a promising future before it, but Calgary has a more promising future. We shall in a very few years, as soon as the Grand Trunk reaches Calgary, have railway connection with both Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk, and also connection with the large American roads to the south of us. By that time Calgary will be the centre of a district, which, with its immigration and its natural advantages, far surpasses any other in the West.

This is coming it strong. Calgary has at present one through line and a branch line north and south. Edmonton has a branch line already and the bargains signed by both the C. N. R. and G. T. P. that this city will be the chief divisional point on each main line between Winnipeg and the coast. Wishing no harm to Calgary it is permissible to say that Edmonton people would not exchange locations with the southern city on terms fixed by themselves.

The unfortunate reasoning of the Alberta is apparent. After refusing to consider the prospects of the Peace River country of sufficient importance to warrant its inclusion in a Province the Albertan argues that the prospects of Calgary should be considered an argument in favor of its establishment as a Capital.

"Calgary is the leading business centre in the west. Examine the postal returns and you will see that the business done here is more than twice as much as in Strathcona and Edmonton combined."

The statement is foreign to the case but it may be pointed out that the postal returns do not reveal any such state of affairs but that they do reveal that Calgary people received during the past year $12,000 worth of post notes, presumably in the nature of remittances, and that they sent out of the city $140,000 worth of money orders, presumably to the departmental stores of the east. Neither of these distinctions are coveted by Edmonton.

As to Calgary, may its future never be dimmed but a different hue is the usual portion of those whose mistaken notion of local loyalty is misrepresentation and derogation of all beyond the limits of their vision.

Quartz—Persons of eighteen years and over and joint stock companies holding free miners' certificates, may obtain entry for mining location.

A free miners' certificate is granted for one or more years, not exceeding five, upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company, according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 500 by 1,500 feet by marking out a square with two legal posts bearing location notices, one at each corner of the line of the lode or vein. The claim may be recorded within ten days if located within ten miles of a mining recorder's office, additional day allowed for every additional ten miles or fraction. The fee for recording a claim is $5.00 at least $100 must be expended on claim each year or paid to the recorder in lieu thereof.

$500 has been expended or locator may, upon having a lease, and upon complying requirements, "or land at $1.00 per acre, may be granted by the Interior to locate iron and mica, also Yukon Territory, exceeding 160 acres, mining location payment of royalty on the sales not exceeding five per cent.

Placer Mining, Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory,—Placer mining claims are generally 100 feet square, entry fee $5.00, renewable yearly. On the North Saskatchewan river claims for either bar or bench, the former being 100 feet long, and extending between high and low water mark. The latter includes bar diggings, but extends back to the base of the hill or bank, but not exceeding 1,000 feet. Where steam power is used, claims 200 feet wide may be obtained.

Dredging in the rivers of Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory.—A free miner may obtain only two leases of five miles each, for a term of twenty years, renewable in the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee's right is confined to the submerged bed or bars of the river below low water mark, and subject to the rights of all persons who have or who may receive entries for bar diggings on bench claims, except in the Saskatchewan river, where the lessee may dredge to high water mark on each alternate lease.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within two years from the date of the lease, and one dredge for each five miles within six years from such date. Rental, $100 per mile for first year, and $10 per mile for each subsequent year. Royalty same as placer mining.

Placer Mining in the Yukon Territory.—Creek, gulch, river, and hill claims shall not exceed 250 feet in length, measured on the base line or general direction of the creek or gulch the width being from 1,000 to 2,000 feet. All other placer claims shall be 200 feet square.

Claims are marked by two legal posts, one at each end, bearing notices. Entry must be obtained within ten days. If the claim is within ten miles of a mining recorder's office, one extra day allowed for each additional ten miles or fraction.

The person or company staking a claim must hold a free miner's certificate.

The discoverer of a new mine is entitled to a claim of 1,000 feet in length, and if the party consists of two, 1,500 feet altogether, on the output of which no royalty shall be charged, but the party or persons holding claims only.

Entry fee, $10. Royalty at the rate of two and one-half per cent. on the value of the gold fixed shipped from the Yukon Territory to be paid to the Comptroller.

No free miner shall receive a grant of more than one mining claim on each separate river, creek or gulch, but the same miner may hold any number of claims by purchase, and free miners may work their claims in partnership by filing notice and paying fee of $2. A claim may be staked by one, and another located on the same creek, gulch or river by giving notice and paying a fee.

Work must be done on a claim each year to the value of at least $200.

A certificate that work has been done must be obtained each year; if not, the claim shall be deemed abandoned, and open to occupation and entry by a free miner.

The boundaries of a claim may be defined absolutely by having a survey made and publishing notice in the Yukon Official Gazette.

Hydraulic Mining, Yukon Territory.—Locations suitable for hydraulic mining have frontages of from one to five miles, and a depth of one mile or more, may be leased for twenty years, provided the ground has been prospected by the applicant or his agent; is found to be unsuitable for placer mining, and does not include within its boundaries any mining claims already granted.

A rental of $150 for each mile of frontage and royalty at the rate of two and one-half per cent of the value of the gold shipped from the Territory, shall be charged.

Operations may be commenced within one year from the date of the lease, and not less than $5,000 must be expended annually. The lease includes all base metals, quartz and coal, and provides for the withdrawal of unoccupied land for agricultural and building purposes.

Petroleum.—All unappropriated Dominion lands in Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and within the Yukon Territory, are open to prospecting for petroleum, and the Minister may request for an individual or company having machinery on the lands to be prospected, an area of 440 acres. Should the prospectors discover oil in paying quantities, and satisfactorily establish such discovery as area not exceeding 640 acres, including the oil well and such other land as may be determined, will be sold to the discoverer at the rate of $1.00 an acre, subject to royalty at such rate as may be specified by order-in-council.

THE PROPOSED DAIRY LICENSE

A communication was published in Saturday's Bulletin protesting against the proposal to place a license fee of $20 per year on vendors of milk and cream within the city limits. The ground was well taken by the writer that the imposition of such fee would practically prohibit the sale of milk or cream by private citizens and farmers and thus throw the entire milk business of the city into the hands of the dairymen.

The position taken by the city council is that the fee should be imposed and an inspection of dairy premises and products instituted.

The Bulletin is not disposed to quarrel with the proposal to establish a rigid inspection of food products but dissents from the position that the privilege of such inspection must be paid for by the practical establishment of a monopoly. Of all articles of food, milk and cream are the most liable to communicate disease and the citizens may with no intention of working hardship to the dairymen demand an impartial and thorough examination into the origin, constituents and previous environment of the liquids offered them under these names. To do so would be to exercise an acknowledged public right, not to take a liberty which must be purchased or rewarded.

The Edmonton District is essentially a grazing and farming country and one of the attractions of Edmonton city life is the fact that the products of the farm and dairy can be obtained at all seasons and at moderate prices. To hand over the milk and cream business of the city to dairymen by a license so large as to be prohibition to all but large dealers is to institute a barrier between the natural producer and consumer which can only work to the injury of both.

Any license fee placed upon vendors of these commodities should be for the sole purpose of enabling the city officials to know who the dealers are, that inspection of their premises may be made and this purpose can be as fully and possibly more fully accomplished by the imposition of a nominal, rather than a prohibitive fee.

EDMONTON CURLERS AT THE BONSPIEL

Most of the Edmonton curlers who attended the Calgary bonspiel last week have returned and are jubilant over their success in the south.

Two rinks attended from Edmonton, F. Jackson J. McLean, C. W. Mathers, J. H. Morris skip, and E. Raymer, J. Thom, G. Manuel, A. C. Fraser skip. J. H. Morris' rink won six games and lost five, getting down to the semi-finals in each competition.

A. C. Fraser's rink however made a record, winning all but two games out of sixteen. They brought home the Walkerville trophy, the Brewing Co.'s trophy, won second in the Grand Challenge and third in the Visitors competition. The Walkerville and Brewery cups are said to have been the most valuable trophies in competition.

Several rinks of Calgary curlers are expected to attend the Edmonton bonspiel next month.

IMMIGRATION MATTERS.

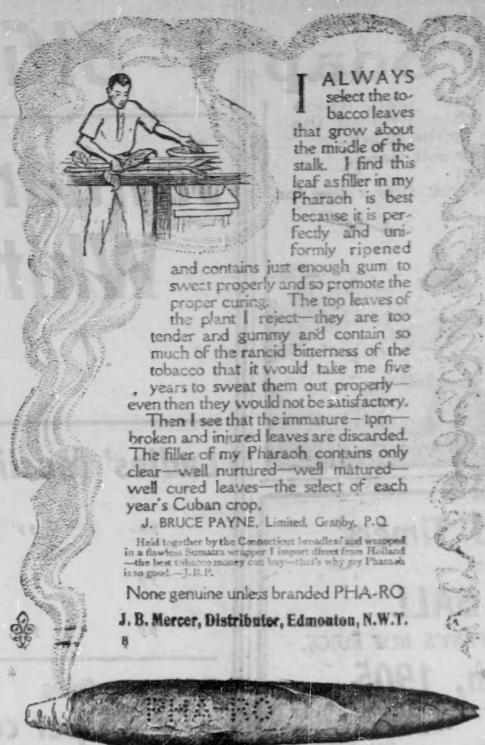

Edmonton Alta., Jan. 20th.
Sir,

The recent spring like weather and the present stagnation of trade in the district recalls to the mind of the business man that no effect can be produced without a cause. People are now a day's most anxious to learn the cause of the constant delays which occur to the detriment of the Edmonton District. Nature is prodigal in its gifts to the people for we have a fine climate, enormous untouched resources and a field open to development second to none in the Dominion, but we do not appear to appreciate our opportunities, we are lacking in progressiveness; in other words there seems to be a kind of "dry rot" cankering the energy which should be shown by our merchants especially at the present time. Every other town and village almost in the country is putting forth every effort to advance its own interests and to advertise its possibilities. Vancouver, Calgary, Winnipeg, Battleford and all intervening points are long since well ahead—Edmonton is a lone letting the precious days pass away. The springtime of immigration is rapidly advancing and no steps are being taken by us to advertise our brilliant prospects. Winnipeg has just sent one of its most capable men, Mr. Lariviere to the East to advance its interests. Other cities as early as last August entrusted their prospects to specially selected representatives who have been travelling far and wide throughout England, Scotland and the States. Why is it that Edmonton alone fails to realize the ability displayed by these travelling representatives? The wholesale merchant does not wait for customers to come to his warehouse to see if he has the goods they require—he sends his travellers to bring the trade to his establishment, to use the magnetism of their individuality and all the powers of tongue and knowledge to influence the sale of his goods.

Did it ever strike the citizens of Edmonton that we are somewhat in the position of an unthrifit, unbusinesslike man who by want of forethought fails in his career simply by his failure to seize on opportunities as they offer themselves? Immigrants are plentiful, why do not more of them reach Edmonton?

I fear that we must admit that we are wanting in energy, that there is neglect or carelessness on our part. This was shown no later than last summer when the town sent a commissioner of immigration to Winnipeg when the season was almost ended. Do we realize our vast and heavy liabilities, our increasing responsibilities, our insufficient capital for necessary civic and individual enterprises?

There is reason and a cause for everything if we only seek it out. Very little is the result of chance alone. Yet we, an agricultural community, are relying on chance to pull us through this year, without any endeavor to help ourselves. Our stock in trade is a vast area of uncultivated lands, the timber and coal belts, our water power, our unexplored mineral areas, our grazing lands and our city warehouses filled with every kind of manufactured and imported goods. Yet with a miserable want of mercantile tact, bought or a culpable negligence of the elements of business capacity we neither send out travellers to describe and show pictures of our saleable goods, real or personal, nor are we even prepared to reply to the hundreds of customers who are daily asking for information from us. Every banker, wholesale merchant, state agent, and probably every public man can tell you that he is constantly in receipt of letters on the subject and yet the city of Edmonton is neglecting this the shining hour when it should lay up the future store of physical skill, agricultural capacity and the introduction of capital necessary to satisfactorily work our fields and establish our trade on a satisfactory basis.

I am led to assign the cause of all this want of energy, not to lack of men capable of directing, but rather to a want of initiative, and an earnest steady perseverance on the part of the executive individuals. A steady flow of a good class of immigrants is what we need.

Yours truly,
Crader.

THIS IS TRULY THE IRON AGE.

Some Pertinent Facts in Regard to Iron and Iron Mining.—The Returns to Shareholders from Iron Properties Greater than from any Other Class of Investment, The Iron Mines of The Edmonton Coal and Iron Mining Company Promise Much to the Owners and to the Prosperity of Edmonton and Northern Alberta

We often hear the expression "the iron age," but few of us realize what this term actually means when applied to the present era, as it often is.

In order to better grasp its meaning, and still further to appreciate to the fullest extent all that it entails, let us look back to the "Iron Age" of past history. In those early times when man was yet in his infancy ~~so far as education and enlightenment goes, when life meant a continual struggle for the supremacy of the race, in short, when his best efforts were limited to an extent which it would be impossible for us in our day to imagine, his sole ambition stopped short at the manufacture of a few crude household utensils and weapons of war and the chase. How different it is with us today! Not only are we equipped with cooking utensils and arms of the finest description but, what is still more to the point, we have subjected this all important metal—the greatest of all nature's gifts to her children—to our almost every need. Not only do we use iron and steel which we may call its offspring, for our houses, but we use it for the actual construction of our largest buildings and it is daily becoming more popular. Again, our bridges, railroads, waterways, subways, docks, shipyards, vessels, in fact all our great modern engineering efforts and efforts would fail utterly were it not for the presence and the adoption and use of this wonderful metal, iron.~~

It would not be too much to state that were we to eliminate the use of iron in its various forms from our present day commodities, not only would the commercial world be suddenly checked but we should gradually and surely drift backward to the starting point; the various branches of trade would have ceased, commercial enterprise would be a thing of the past and civilization would be a mere matter of history. Therefore viewing things from this, the only proper light, the logical conclusion we must arrive at is that this twentieth century is the real iron age, the iron age of the past being merely the embryonic forecast of the world's great future. Such being the case let us turn to the material side of the subject and ourselves the uses of iron in a line which is practically the fundamental basis of our modern civilization and since it is used to such a vast and ever-increasing extent, how is the supply to keep pace with the demand? Clearly the field is a large one and even the great iron mines now working are not so numerous as to be able to swamp the market at their present output. There is more demand today than there ever was for a good iron mine, and this is especially applicable to certain countries and sections of countries.

Speaking of our own country—this vast Canada—with its limitless resources in the form of minerals, timber etc., here we have a young country, a growing country, full of great prospects with a vast future. Unhindered by the fogs and mists of uncertainty or inexperience she looms up before us in all her might. With outstretched arms she invites us to share her glories and her future. Her dress is an ample one, nor does she withhold it from those who have the wisdom to know her charms. Her veins are of fine gold. Her ornaments are many and precious. Her will is of iron and as surely her will controls her actions so surely must her iron control her future. With this iron she will build her railways—the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Northern, albeit in themselves a vast undertaking being but an earnest of future and still greater enterprise. She must have also bridges, ships, machinery and the thousand and one necessaries which go to build up a nation—she which we so surely can day become. Think of this, to build up a nation! Great is her upon our meaning which this implies and ask yourself the question "How are we going to obtain all this iron which is needed?" The answer is simple. Either Canada must import all her iron and by this we include steel, or she must supply her own iron. Would she not supply her own iron? We know that we have fruit in our gardens, go elsewhere to obtain it at a greater cost? It hardly seems feasible. Then let us pluck what we have ready to our help, in other words let us take hold of the vast iron deposits which we know from the best authorities and can see for ourselves with interest. Let us work with them, the indomitable, throwing away money but with careful consideration and with due regard to location and the probable measure of success which such location promises.

There are those who would say that the average percentage of iron in the number of mines is small compared to the number of mines upon which large sums of money have been spent. Here again, notwithstanding the fact that although the number of failures in iron mines has been far less than that of any other mineral, we find a class of people who rely rather upon their own ideas of what should be, than upon the advice of experts who deal with the things that are. Such is the class who would, after losing money by their own careless speculations, decry any form of mining; who, in short impede the march of progress.

It has been said that in order to take an intelligent interest in the affairs of his country every man should study politics. How much more then should he not take an active interest in building up his country by studying its natural resources and assisting to develop them?

It almost devolves upon us as a duty, which we owe to our children and our children's children, this laying of the foundation stones of the future, and this being the age of iron it would seem that in that direction lies the work we have to perform.

One naturally asks "where am I to start and how?" We will consider the first part of the query carefully, being guided by past experience and backed up by statistics, for these are the testimonials exacted from us by nature before we will yield up our services.

Taking the iron belts on this continent of America we find that they have their defined limits and their directions as truly as the arteries in the human body. For instance if we find the brachial artery near our elbow and run across it again at our wrist we may safely conclude that it is the same artery, or lead as it would be termed in mining parlance. It is not our desire to bewilder the reader or prospective investor with a list of iron mines paying high dividends, nor do we sketch out a geographical chart of all the iron districts and leads on the American continent, but the following example will serve to show the well nigh infallibility of mining operations where carried out on the basis above illustrated. We refer to the world famous iron mines of the Mesabi range in Minnesota, U. S. A.

Throughout the entire length of this range in recent years there have been many valuable claims taken up and today some of them net an enormous income to those who were far-sighted enough to invest in them. One particular case is that of a gentleman who now rejoices in the sobriquet of "Iron King" of Duluth. About twelve years ago he purchased eighty acres of timber land in the iron belt above named for the sum of $300,000. After inspecting the timber offered to sell his property for less than he had paid for it, but no one would buy it. Some two years after he discovered that the iron oxide exposed on his land was valuable, and he sold the right to take the iron off his eighty acres to the American Steel Corporation, charging him 25 cents per ton for all the iron they took. This has netted him $8,000,000.00. His income from this source alone is $750.00 per day.

Almost due north some 1000 miles from this Mesabi range lies an immense deposit of iron oxide, the property of the Edmonton Coal and Iron Company of Edmonton. It is located near Edmonton in Northern Alberta not far from the Canadian Northern Railroad and close to the route of the Grand Trunk Pacific, besides it is within eight miles of the Saskatchewan river which is navigable, and is connected by wagon roads to Edmonton.

Among other experts, Mr. Wm. Blakemore, member of Institute of Mining Engineers, England, has reported on this valuable property. He says that in his opinion the company has in this case a "most valuable asset and easily and quickly realizable" as it is more than likely from the character and occurrence of the deposit that the springs come from a stratified ore body below which could be disclosed by boring.

Alluding to the proposed expenditure of $10,000.00 he adds "Having had thirty years experience in locating and working various iron deposits I have no hesitation in saying that this is a highly profitable and one which will justify the expenditure recommended."

The mineral deposits he finds by analysis consists of 45 per cent. of metallic iron from surface ore and as he further states, not only could it be used to produce an excellent paint oxide, for which a market could easily be found, but it could also be used in combination with other iron or smelting and iron and steel manufacture, similar to that so successfully pursued at Red River ranges fully smelted at Quebec for many years.

Small wonder then that of this vast and immense property has created such a stir among mining circles in various parts, not only of this country but elsewhere.

We Offer $1,000

For a Disease Germ That Liquozone Can't Kill.

On every bottle of Liquozone we offer $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. We do this to assure you that Liquozone does kill germs.

And it is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

It is this fact which gives Liquozone its worth to humanity, so great that, after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, we paid $100,000 for the American rights.

And we have spent over one million dollars, in one year, to buy the first bottle and give it free to each sick one who would try it.

and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

Liquozone goes into the stomach, into the bowels and into the blood, to go wherever the blood goes. No germ can escape it and none can resist it. The results are inevitable, for a germ disease must end when the germs are killed.

Then Liquozone, acting as a wonderful tonic, quickly restores a condition of perfect health.

Diseases which have resisted medicine for years yield at once to Liquozone, and it cures diseases which medicine never cures. Half the people you meet—wherever you are—can tell you of cures that were made by it.
